MINOR ACCIDENTS OCCUR IN PARTY

King George Nursing Couple Of Bruised Fingers Result Of Train Mishap

By WALTER KIERNAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ROYAL PILOT TRAIN, EN-ROUTE TO REGINA, Sask., May 25—Trivial accidents piled up aboard the royal train of King George and Queen Elizabeth today with the king's name at the top of the list.

His majesty was nursing a set of bruised fingers the result of getting his right hand caught in a door on the train. The injury apparently was not painful as he shook a hundred hands in Winnipeg without wincing, although his fingers were taped.

The second patient aboard was Commander S. T. Wood of the Royal Canadian mounted police who caught a hot cinder in the eye and it immediately went under the care of the king's doctor.

Patient No. 3 was the queen's maid, who left the train at Winnipeg to have an infected finger treated at the local hospital. The manner in which the maid received her injury was not revealed, but it was understood she will not rejoin the party for at least a week.

The fourth patient was on the recovery list. He was Jerold, the king's valet, who stayed behind in Ottawa to treat a cold, but who was expected to rejoin the train at Regina today, flying from the dominion capital.

With two elk heads, two beaver skins and his injured fingers, the king and his queen rolled over hun-

PA NEWC OBSERVES

There was quite a commotion around the Public Square at about 12:30 o'clock today when a big black snake, estimated at about six feet, probably fell from the undercarriage of an automobile, and was wriggling around on the pavement. A passing motorist (brave fellow) stopped and picked the snake up and tossed it in the back end of his car and drove off.

Workmen of the Pennsylvania Power company started Tuesday at the western end of the city, painting deep green, the eight hundred units, consisting of poles, posts, brackets, etc., belonging to the "white way" lighting system of the city. It will take about two weeks to complete the work, which is of course dependent on having good weather.

Men of St. Andrew's church, East Long avenue, are building a retaining wall, about twenty feet long next to Belmont street, planting evergreens and shrubbery, and otherwise working to beautify the surroundings of the church. The work is being done under the supervision of Jacob Hetrick, the Sunday school superintendent.

All that remains of a car abandoned on the South Mercer street parking lot several weeks ago, is the shell. Someone has even taken the fabric out of the roof, the engine is gone, the tires, wheels, axles and everything.

Twenty-Six In Sub Probably Died Quickly

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May 25.—Commander Oliver F. Naquin, rescued skipper of the submarine Squalus which sank 15 miles off Portsmouth with a probable death loss of 26, declared in an interview this afternoon that in his opinion the lives of the men trapped in the after compartments of the vessel "were snuffed out immediately by the quantity of incoming water" which flooded the submarine after it went down.

Captain Naquin said there was no gas "except possibly the carbon dioxide we created by our breathing" in the control room at any time while the 59 officers and crew were trapped 240 feet below the water's surface.

Three Men Enter Pleas Of Guilty In Murder Ring

More Of Accused In Philadelphia Crime Sensation Enter Pleas Today

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, May 25.—With their emotions varying from grim complacency to broken sobbing, three men entered pleas of guilty today to indictments charging them with the deaths of four victims of Philadelphia's notorious insurance-murder ring while seven additional defendants made firm denials of guilt.

The three confessions brought to a total of five those marked by the finger of guilt in the macabre "poison-for-profit" plot believed responsible for 100 insurance deaths over a five-state area.

Two Previously Found Guilty

Previously to today's arraignments of the 10 recently-indicted suspects Herman Petrillo, a leader of the death syndicate, was convicted and doomed to death by a jury, while Mrs. Carina Favato, prominent in the machinations of the conspiracy, interrupted her own trial to plead guilty to the poison deaths of her husband, a step-son, and a boarder.

Those who pleaded guilty to murder indictments today were:

Morris Bolber, ex-Brooklyn delicatessen store operator and "witch doctor" of the ring; Samuel Sortino, who broke into tears as the court heard his low-voiced admission, and Rafael Polselli, slightly-built Italian who calmly entered guilty pleas through an interpreter to two slayings.

Harold Brest's Case Is Taken Up Before Federal Court At Pittsburgh

BROUGHT BACK FROM ALCATRAZ

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 25.—Harold Martin Brest, Pennsylvania kidnaper and bank robber who evaded a life term at Alcatraz prison on a technicality, went on trial in federal court here today on an indictment alleging violation of the Lindbergh kidnap law.

Also facing counts of robbing the Volant, Pa., bank and auto theft, Brest, a former Sharon, Pa., resident was brought up on the indictment accusing him and a companion of forcing D. Lester Santee, a Sharon salesman, into a car and driving across the Ohio State line.

The auto theft case also will be prosecuted at the same time, it was learned.

Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker, who sentenced Brest to a life term in 1936 when he pleaded guilty to the same counts, will preside at the present trial. United States Attorney Charles Uhl will personally prosecute Brest.

Attorney Zeno Fritz, appointed by the district court here, will serve as Brest's counsel during his trial.

Tax Problems Diccussed By Home Owners

Taxpayers Meet To Further Interests In Court House Wednesday Evening

HEAR PRESIDENT OF STATE GROUP

Problems as they affect all taxpayers of the city and county, principally property owners, were discussed at a meeting of Lawrence county taxpayers in the court house here last evening.

George T. Weingartner, one of the city's large real estate holders, presided as chairman of the evening. The principal speakers were Henry Oliver Evans, president of the Pennsylvania Property Owners association, and Harry C. Workmaster of Pittsburgh, technical adviser on assessments and appraisals. The meeting was largely attended and augured the formation of a strong group of taxpayers united to reduce taxation of all kinds.

Mr. Weingartner, in opening the meeting, stated that the meeting had been called, not only to discuss property taxation, but the question of taxation in general. It is hoped to form a strong local organization, which will endeavor to have local taxation reduced, and in turn will bolster the state organization to have economies affected in the state and national setup.

Evans Speaks

He introduced Henry Oliver Evans, who explained how the state organization had been founded, following the success of an organized group of taxpayers in Luzerne county. He stated that many lobbyists who secure appropriations for their pet schemes represent minorities, and felt that if the taxpayers were as securely organized, they could avert the necessity for increased taxes by having many of these requests denied. He stated that the principal object was to fight for the things the association believes in and to fight against those it did not.

Harry C. Workmaster of Pittsburgh, technical expert, told how he had become interested in securing equality of taxation back in 1914, when he found that homes of identical construction and size were differently assessed, in some cases some of these homes being assessed 100 per cent more than others.

He told how the taxpayers of Mt. Lebanon had organized and had secured equitable assessments, and also saw that their tax money was not spent foolishly. As a result, the taxes in Mt. Lebanon have been moving constantly downward instead of upward.

He told how they had found 19 million dollars worth of assessable property which was paying no taxes whatever, and of five million dollars worth of exempted property being placed back on the tax rolls.

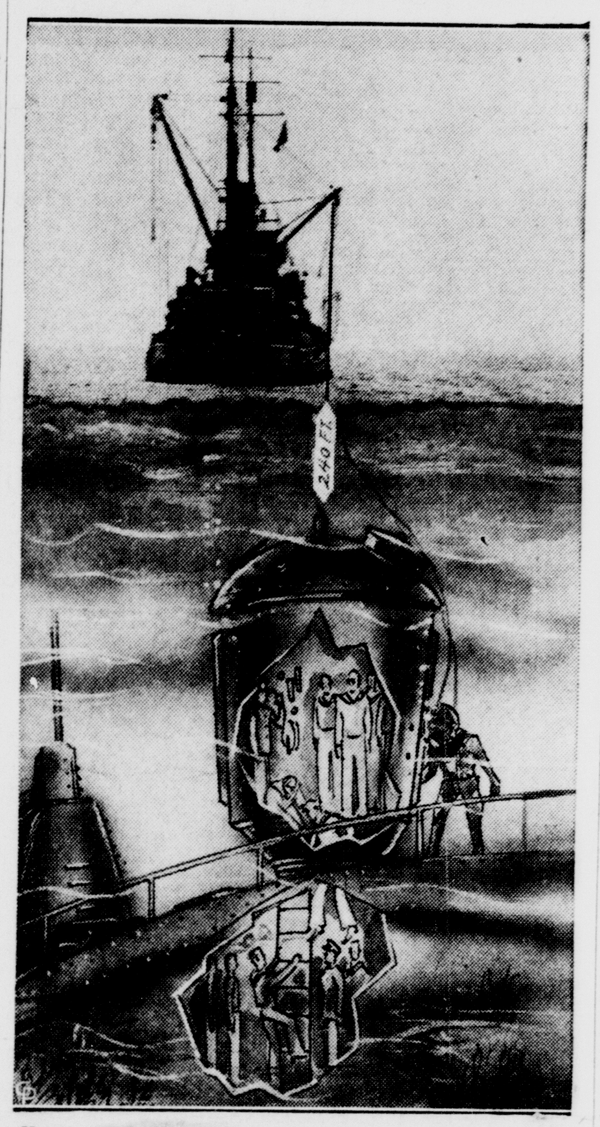

He advocated a survey of property assessments as against actual values.

Local Man Heard

Norman E. Clark, secretary and treasurer of the New Castle Mutual Building & Loan Association, advocated a permanent board of assessors to assess all property in the county, and stated that he felt a

How Men Were Rescued

Here is Artist Alfred E. Buescher's conception of how the members of the crew of the sunken submarine Squalus were brought to the surface in the diving bell or rescue chamber. Seven men were brought up on the first trip. A trained man goes over the side of the rescue ship in the air-filled bell. When he reaches the submarine's hatch, he locks the tapering end of the pear-shaped chamber, opens both the hatch and a port in the bell. A group of imprisoned men climb into the bell and after hatches are closed, water ballast is thrown off and the bell rises.

Rescued Crew Member Tells Of 29 Hours Of Peril At Bottom Of Sea In Sub

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, May 25.—"It was 29 hours of living hell."

Thus did Lieut. John C. Nichols of Chicago, one of the first to be rescued from the sunken submarine Squalus, describe his experience today in a copyrighted telephone interview with the Chicago Herald and Examiner.

Here is his story:

"This is the second time I have been saved miraculously from a crippled submarine, and I never want to experience again the agony of those horrible hours on the ocean floor.

"When we started our diving test at 8:30 Tuesday morning, I knew we were in trouble. We started taking water rapidly in our rear compartment. The Squalus began to sink stern first.

"Then she levelled off for a moment, while the men in the aft compartment battled to close the induction valve. Lieut. O. F. Naquin, our skipper, ordered the rear compartment bulkhead closed.

"It was the only chance of saving the ship and Naquin knew it. The poor fellows aft were trapped like rats but the sealing of the bulkhead saved the others . . .

"29 Hours Of Living Hell"

"There followed 29 hours of living hell. There was no panic, no visible excitement, no tears.

Sinking Of Sub Produces Hero

Machinist's Mate Is Acclaimed As Hero In Squalus Disaster

CLOSES DOOR TO SHUT OFF SEA

(International News Service)

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May 25—As does every major disaster, the sinking of the submarine Squalus produced its hero today—a modest third class machinist's mate, Lloyd B. Maness of Greensboro, N. C.

The thrilling story of how he alone stood off the angry sea with a burst of almost superhuman strength locked it behind the narrow steel door of the aft quarters of the submarine remains for the moment untold in all its details because of strict official naval secrecy.

The pressure of the water pouring into the aft quarters through the fouled 31-inch induction valve was tremendous but Maness, his less reticent fellow crew members related, hurled himself against the door and by degrees forced it back until it was securely closed.

In a brief flash of seconds he had saved the 33 men in the forequarters who were destined to be

Divers Seek To Learn Fate Of Rest Of Crew

Fear 26 Still In Sunken Squalus Died In Submarine Disaster

THIRTY-THREE RESCUED ALIVE

Diving Bell Rescue Device Being Repaired For New Descent To Sub

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May 25.—Divers working from the rescue ship Falcon today again descended 240 feet to the sunken submarine Squalus in an attempt to explore the flooded compartments of the ill-fated vessel which still contains 26 men—all feared to be dead.

The 33 survivors were reported in good condition at Portsmouth navy yard where all but eight of them were quartered last night. The eight—the last group brought up in the ten-ton steel "rescue chamber"—remained on board the Falcon overnight. The men were reported in good shape.

Repair Rescue Device

Naval officials at 10 a. m. did not know how soon the dome-shaped "rescue chamber" would again be lowered from the Falcon to the Squalus. But it seemed it would be done soon as the huge, dome-shaped rescue device had been repaired following the accident to it last night when the cable fouled as it was bringing up the last eight survivors.

The "rescue chamber" could be seen in position for another descent at this hour. Meanwhile divers had gone down to do what they could in a preparatory way.

All of the still imprisoned men are in the four after compartments—the crews' quarters, the two engine rooms and the after torpedo room.

Naval officials would not hazard a guess as to how long it would take to get into the flooded compartments but hoped the rescuers might be able to do it today.

It was stated that some of the bodies lodged near the aft hatch may be quickly brought to the surface by the rescue chamber.

There was only a faint hope that any of the still imprisoned men were alive. If it develops that the compartments were completely flooded there is no hope for them. But there is the possibility that one or two of the compartments were only partially flooded.

Lieut. Commander J. J. Curley, press liasion officer at the navy yard here, said he had reported to the navy department at Washington that all the men believed to be alive had been brought up but that efforts would continue to ascertain if any others in the Squalus are alive.

If it develops that the 26 in the

Order Thorough Probe Of Sub Disaster

Court Of Inquiry Ordered By Navy

Intensive Investigation Of Tragedy Of U. S. S. Squalus Is To Be Started

CAUSE WILL BE SOUGHT IN PROBE

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 25—Depressed by the heavy loss of life in the latest disaster to strike the submarine service, the navy today ordered one of the most intensive investigations in naval history into the sinking of the U. S. S. Squalus.

The navy's report will be studied by the senate naval affairs committee. If there are any unanswered questions, or if "the facts justify it," Chairman Walsh said he would initiate a congressional investigation.

Naval Court Of Inquiry

A general naval court of inquiry will be convened to seek the cause of the tragedy that so suddenly overtook the navy's most modern and advanced type of submersible in its trial runs. The court will launch its probe under the direct aegis of President Roosevelt, and will be responsible to him through Secretary of the Navy Swanson.

Even as the last of the 33 survivors were brought to the surface, the navy began to gather information in an effort to determine whether it was human or mechanical failure, or deliberate sabotage, which sent the Squalus to the bottom. Lt. O. F. Naquin, the Squalus commander, and the other survivors were told to make no statements of the probable cause of the disaster pending questioning by the court.

The Squalus' sister ship, the Sculpin, and two other submersibles of the same type, just added to the force, will be rechecked to prevent a similar disaster.

moving through the senate toward final enactment. All already hold house approval.

At the same time, Republican floor leader G. Mason Owlett, Tioga, said the senate would probably take final action today on three major pieces of legislation before it, the liquor bills, the unemployment compensation bill and the Peale bill revising the state's "little Wagner act." All, previously approved by the house, have since been amended extensively by the senate.

Final action on the five Wilson house-approved workmen's compensation bills was delayed to permit further amendment while the house-approved Kane anthracite bill, providing for state regulation of the hard coal industry, was scheduled to receive a semi-public hearing today.

RESCUED CREW MEMBER TELLS OF 29 HOURS OF PERIL

my heart swelled with pride every time I realized the fine tradition of the navy prevailed.

"Here were men and officers facing almost certain death. Choppy seas battered our hull deeper into the ocean bed. We released our telephone buoy. But hours passed without contact from above.

"Generators went dead as soon as we started shipping water. Within five minutes we were without lights and heat. The temperature tobogganed rapidly. Throughout the long night it hovered just above the freezing point. . . .

"Despite the men's fine morale, as midafternoon approached and we failed to contact the surface after nearly eight hours, their inward terror became evident. . . .

First Call Over Wire

"It was exactly 4:20 p. m. when the first call came over the wire. The submarine Sculpin, sister ship of the Squalus, had discovered our emergency buoy and hooked onto the telephone line.

"I'll never forget the dramatic moment. Imagine if you can those hungry, half frozen, terror stricken young men facing death the equivalent of 24 stories below the surface of the sea. Picture them fighting a grim battle against the unbridled forces of nature, with only a thin steel hull holding back the crushing weight of millions of tons of water. Visualize their feelings. . . .

"After the waves severed the telephone line to the surface, we tapped out messages with a sledge hammer on the hull. Our Morse code was picked up by detectors of the surface vessels.

"Two years ago I was attached to the sumbarine S-26 when one of the induction valves failed to close during our diving tests. We were trapped on the ocean floor more than an hour. It was terrifying.

"'But 29 hours abroad a sub containing dead men is a ghastly dream that will probably never be erased from my mind.

"Throughout the horror-filled hours my hope was pinned to the marvelous new undersea devices with which Uncle Sam's submarines are equipped. Lt. Commander Charles Momsen's device is great.

"When the great rubber coupling was fastened to the hatch in the hull and crew members began climbing to safety, we cheered ourselves hoarse. . . .

"I believe the submarine division is the greatest branch of the navy. A few days' rest and I'll be ready again to set out aboard a sub."

the survivors. Locked in the flooded aft-section were 26 men, now given up for dead.

Maness was the last man to leave that chamber of death as the Squalus sank 240 feet to the bottom.

His feat as well as his identity remained obscured until he came ashore at the navy yard aboard a rescue cutter. When newspapermen asked the name of the crew member who carried out the order of Lieut. O. R. Naquin, in command of the sub, Maness was silent but the other men shouted his name.

ed a welcome in behalf of the chapter and explained how the chapter house had been made possible by the generous action of Frank B. Offutt, who had the home placed in repair and sold it to the chapter for a nominal sum of money, which is being paid for as rent.

Mr. Davis introduced Miss Margaret F. Bodenstein, executive secretary of the chapter, who spoke briefly and in turn introduced Mr. Shepard, who gave the principal address of the evening.

Mr. Shepard stated that there are 3,600 Red Cross chapters in the country with a membership of five and a half million people. He told how the Red Cross was formed 58 years ago by Miss Clara Barton, who had been a nurse during the Civil war. She organized the first chapter at Danvers, N. Y., and that same year, 1881, the Red Cross did its first bit of disaster relief work when forest fires devastated the northern part of the state of Michigan.

He recounted the many activities in which the Red Cross now engages in rendering service to the public and stated that a chapter house always means a great forward step in the progress of any chapter, and he expressed the belief that the Lawrence county chapter would continue to grow and serve the county in a larger measure.

At the conclusion of his address, Vivian Smith, a member of the Junior Red Cross and a student in the West Side school, presented Mr. Shepard with a special pair of shears which had been given to the chapter by Jack Gerson, local jeweler. The ribbons across the doorway were cut and the home was formally opened for public inspection.

Rabbi Norman H. Diamond, pastor of Temple Israel congregation and also a member of the board, pronounced the benediction, and there was a closing selection by the band.

Programs Each Day

Many people visited the chapter house during the evening and inspected its fine appointments.

Programs will follow today and tomorrow as a part of the dedication ceremonies, occurring at 1:15, 4:15 and 7 o'clock p. m. and will be broadcast. Chairman Ralph F. Davis, Mrs. C. J. Kirk, charter member of the chapter, and Mrs. William E. Cosel, chairman of food and nutrition, spoke at noon today; at 4:45 o'clock this afternoon Mrs. John A. Crowl, production chairman of the chapter; Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of schools, and James Canan, representing the Junior Red Cross, from the Thaddeus Stevens school will speak.

This evening will be Ellwood City Night, when a delegation representing the Ellwood City branch of the chapter will be present and will present a program at 7:15 o'clock. Those who will speak this evening are: Mrs. Mary Conti, a member of the chapter board since the days of the World war; Harry Culliford, chairman of first aid; Alex McCready, chairman of the house committee; Dr. S. A. Kirkbride of New Wilmington; Tom Edmunds, service officer of the Perry S. Gaston post, American Legion; Russell J. Schill, chairman of the Ellwood City branch of the Lawrence county chapter; Burgess William McGlincy of Ellwood City, and Charles E. Allen, publicity chairman of the chapter.

Speakers at the programs Friday will include Mrs. Olive Reed Bolinger, George Reid, Attorney J. Glenn Berry and Attorney Joseph McFate at 1:15 p. m.; Chairman Ralph F. ## DIVERS SEEK TO LEARN FATE OF REST OF CREW hull of the sunken submarine are dead, Rear Admiral Cyrus W. Cole, commander of all the rescue activities, will decide whether to attempt to raise the Squalus with the imprisoned bodies or to try to bring out the bodies in groups.

Praise of the conduct of the officers and crew of the Squalus was being heard at the navy yard here today. From the lips of Judson Thomas Bland, electrician's mate, of Norfolk, Va., came unstinted praise for the man who slammed shut the steel bulkhead door after the Squalus ran into the trouble which sent the sea cascading into the craft through the ventilating lines.

Tells What Occurred

Bland was chosen by navy officials as the man to tell reporters what occurred.

Today, it was learned the name of the hero is Lloyd B. Maness, electrician's mate, second class, Tulare, Cal., who by his alertness saved the fore compartments from being flooded and perhaps saved the lives of those 33 who have been saved.

Maness was taken from the disabled submarine in the second trip of the "rescue chamber."

Bland, in describing the action of Maness, said:

"One man closed the door to the affected part of the ship while we were at this angle. It took super strength to do it—I don't see how he did it."

Four Rescue Trips Made

Temporary suspension of operations by the rescue ship Falcon was announced shortly before 1 a. m., after the vessel had four times sent down its 10-ton steel device known as the "rescue chamber" to bring up men in batches of seven, nine, and eight.

Drama of high order was enacted during the bringing up of the last eight in the fourth group. Part of the way up the cable of the rescue chamber became fouled and the eight men were held prisoner for several hours in the dome-shaped device part of the way between the sunken Squalus and the rescue ship Falcon.

Saving of the thirty-three men was a partial victory of man against the sea for this was the first time in actual rescue work that the huge dome-shaped "rescue chamber," a new invention, had been used in such an emergency.

The Falcon, which arrived at the scene early Wednesday morning, worked all day and until past last midnight striving to save as many lives as possible.

Last Eight Brought Up

Four times the officers of the Falcon sent the rescue chamber down to the Squalus which was imbedded on the ocean's floor 240 feet below the surface of the water. At 1:22 p. m., yesterday the first batch of seven men were brought up. At 4:04 p. m., a second group of nine were rescued. At 6:50 p. m., the third group of nine was hauled up on the deck of the Falcon and, finally, at 12:38 o'clock this morning the last eight, including the commander of the ill-fated submarine, Lieut. O. F. Naquin, was brought up.

Then, as rescue operations temporarily ceased, it was generally agreed that those still remaining in the hull of the Squalus were dead.

This morning, as the $4,000,000 submarine, one of the nation's newest underseas craft, lay waterlogged at the bottom of the sea, naval officials expressed doubt that any more men would be brought out alive.

Those now believed to be dead in the interior of the Squalus were the men who were in the after compartments when the submarine went down in a practice dive at 8:40 a. m. Tuesday and failed to come up. One of the induction valves failed to close, causing the water to rush into the vessel. Three of the seven compartments—those located to the aft—were flooded.

TAX PROBLEMS DISCUSSED BY HOME OWNERS

sales tax with the burden being taken off real estate would make every citizen tax conscious and until every citizen is tax conscious no relief could be expected.

Herb D. McGoun stated that he felt one of the biggest problems of today was the fact that tax levying bodies were under pressure to spend too much money, which the taxpayers have to pay for. He felt by organizing a lot of this could be eliminated.

W. W. Campbell of New Wilmington referred to the Teachers Tenure Act, which he stated was represented by one of the strongest lobbies in the state. He stated that the educational program in Pennsylvania is far too expensive, and that whenever more funds are needed to meet the ever increasing load, that property has to bear the brunt of the burden.

John W. Pattison of Union township recalled the success which the old Taxpayers League of Lawrence county had enjoyed in getting the city and county officials interested in reducing the cost of government.

J. Audley Boak, past master of the Pennsylvania state grange, stated that the biggest trouble today is that there are too many people with their hands outstretched to the lawmakers of the county, states and nation, crying "give me". He deplored the fact that agriculture, the oldest and noblest occupation of mankind had to beg for relief. He said the farmer doesn't need this relief. "Give the American farmer the American market and he will take care of farm relief himself," he stated in conclusion.

John Cartwright, city assessor, stated that under the present system of assessing property, the assessor does not have time to do a thorough and complete job. He advocated a permanent board of assessors who would work at the job all the time and when the time for making the triennial assessment came they would have all the information needed.

William I. Dean, secretary and treasurer of the Mathews Conveyor company of Ellwood City, and Joseph S. Bowater of the same concern expressed their interest in a taxpayers organization and felt that the taxpayers should be doing something to halt the ever-growing burden.

Raymond A. Scully, field secretary of the Pennsylvania Property Owners association, stated that the taxpayers of Lawrence county will be individually contacted and urged to affiliate with the county and state group, and asked for the cooperation of all taxpayers in making the organization a strong and effective one. C. W. James will be the representative who will visit the county residents.

Man isn't so much. All of his bombers working together couldn't wipe out a great city in the time a little earthquake does it.

TOO MUCH WAR TALK

FROM a press wire service comes a report that Colonel Lindbergh finds more war talk in this country than in Europe. The Colonel is indirectly quoted to the effect that people abroad are not concerned about an outbreak of hostilities.

This naturally serves to confirm the opinion that citizens of the United States, and particularly their leading representatives at Washington, should stop thinking and speaking in terms of war.

Militarism thrives on fear. Mob emotionalism like that which swept across America in 1916 and 1917 is accentuated by constant harping on the subject of war.

Colonel Lindbergh will make a contribution to American welfare even greater than that having to do with aviation technique if he succeeds in soft-pedaling the war craze and bringing this nation, officially and unofficially, back to a plane of reasonable, temperate restraint.

AMERICA MAINTAINS MOTOR LEAD

There is ample cause for optimism in the report by Alfred Reeves, vice president of the Automobile Manufacturers Association, that car production this year will maintain for the fourth consecutive year a net increase of a million vehicles.

As a general business barometer the automobile industry, which links thousands of other industries, merits attention. Close to 4,000,000 cars were manufactured in the United States in 1937, about 230,000 of them being exported, as against about 1,500,000 manufactured in the rest of the world. This proportion and gain obtain today.

With the automobile long since an accepted part of the average American's scheme of living, the automotive factories provide a happy index of material benefits which should not be lost upon some foreign countries, which are over-concentrating instead on destructive activities.

MONTAGUE LOST IN THE ROUGH

With all due sympathy for the Mysterious Montague, the dull thud with which the super-golf legend surrounding that personage came to rest in the traps of Chicago's Medinah course on Monday is not without its solace to the average, run-of-the-mill player.

Touted as the Paul Bunyan of the links, the man who regularly knocked birds off telegraph wires with a brassie shot and who could shoot a better game of golf with a rake and shovel than most of us can with a regulation set of clubs, Mr Montague failed ignominiously to qualify for the National Open scheduled for Spring Mill next month. He carded an 81 on his first round and did so badly on the second that he picked up without reporting a score, reports a metropolitan daily.

The Montague debacle will confirm the opinion held by many that playing tournament golf is one thing and doing fancy tricks with a golf ball is another, and that those who long for sub-par cards are better off brushing up on their putting than practicing stunts that fail to pay off in scores.

PROSPECTS FOR LIVELY SUMMER

According to political dopesters in Washington, President Roosevelt will make a trip west to visit the San Francisco World's Fair and, during his visit in California will speak in defense of his foreign policies. His stated theories, it is said, will combat the foreign policies of Senator Hiram Johnson, who is in favor of our maintaining strict neutrality, remaining politically at home, minding our own business and seeking to remedy what is wrong with America first

All of this, if the prediction turns out to be true, ought to make it an interesting summer for the people of the West Coast. For Senator Johnson is no amateur fighter himself His well known views on foreign affairs have been a trump card in each of his campaigns for the senatorship in his home state. He is a rough and tumble fighter and knows how to take care of himself in any debate.

The time was, a few years ago, when Hiram favored the idealistic objectives of the New Deal as described by the young men who first put it into circulation. But there is abundant evidence now that he is disillusioned with the way New Deal theories have been applied. And he is said to be especially critical of the administration's international policies. In any long range debate between the President and Senator Johnson on foreign issues we are willing to make a wager that the fiery senator from California doesn't come off second best.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1939 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

A whimsical artist draws a picture of George VI as he is, and then draws him bearded and mustached, as were his father and grandfather. The result is a very striking resemblance to the late George V. Englishmen, who ought to know, say the present king will never grow either a mustache or beard, in spite of the various royal antecedents of this mode of facial adornment. After the Van Dyck-bearded head of Charles I had fallen into the headman's basket, England went clean-shaven for a century and a half. Until the year 1800, British monarchs were clean-shaven.

When George III became insane and word went about that he was letting his beard grow, the English public was outraged and all sorts of drastic proposals were made to punish this capillary solecism. The smooth face is still the prevailing fashion in England, as it is in the United States, and there is plenty of precedent for it. Yet throughout history, beards have been very important, and this remains to whether or not George VI ever stops shaving.

In the East, as all know, Moslems swear by the beard of the Prophet. The Romans were given to beards until someone dug up a dictum of Alexander of Macedonia that his soldiers go clean-shaven, lest their enemies profit by a hand-hold on their chin-tresses. Peter the Great made the Russians shave, holding that the bare face denoted civilized enlightenment. As to mustaches, Britons were strong for them before the Roman conquest, nourishing particularly wild and wanton growths of the later blow-torch model. If legend is not wrong, it was King William Rufus of England who suddenly deforested the realm with his decree that both mustaches and beards were effeminate.

British royalty never could quite seem to make up its mind about beards. Henry II was as clean-shaven as Julius Caesar; Richard II was sparsely tufted; Henry III, Edward II and Edward III all wore heavy beards, and Henry VIII let

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

WHAT INFANT HOLDS IS HIS

IN ONE of my books I wrote:

"A baby's basic attitude toward ownership dawns early. For this attitude we parents are entirely responsible. As soon as the child can reach for things and seize them he assumes that what he gets is his. Although we can teach him that certain things do not belong to him and that he dares not touch or seize them, as soon as they are in his grasp he considers them to be his own.

"In our eagerness to teach the child to respect the property and rights of others, and to protect him from danger, we are wont to snatch from him forbidden things. When we do, all sorts of difficulties arise out of his efforts to retain what he regards as his own possessions. He is almost sure to fly into a rage. By taking thought we can avoid such explosions and can build in him a sound basis of respect for others' ownership. But to succeed we must possess abundant self-ontrol.

He Seizes Scissors

"Suppose a baby 15 months of age has seized the scissors. They are his from his point of view. Suppose you wrench them from his hands. You then appropriate his private property; you virtually steal from him. The bady does his utmost to defend himself; but you are the stronger and he loses. Next time he sees those scissors he may take them when you are out of sight; or, when he sees you coming he may run with them. He has practice then in stealth and cunning. He also faces hazards; he may fall upon the scissors, injuring an eye.

"It may be an open safety pin which he has seized. When his ownership of it is threatened, he may hide it in his mouth or even swallow it rather than have it taken from him. In all such instances, you should respect the baby's ownership. What he has is his. Offer something in its stead, and when he gives it up reward him by approval. With ample skill you can induce the child to give up anything, developing a safety program, guaranteeing to the child his rights, and cultivating in him habits of co-operation."

ANOTHER "HOVER" DAM AFFAIR

Buried in European news dispatches comes a sentence: "Woodrow Wilson Square at Olmuetz, former Czecho-Slovakia, has been rechristened Hermann Goering Platz, for Adolf Hitler's No. 2 Nazi."

Twenty years ago the name of Wilson was a household word of hope to every European home. In America, he earned the respect of those who disapproved his League of Nations proposal, as well as of those who endorsed it, by fighting for his ideals to the point of collapse that led to his invalidism and death.

And now the wreckage of Wilson's dream of eternal peace through self-determinism of peoples, is symbolized by the crossing out of his name in a city of a Democracy he helped to found.

But, irrespective of whatever ideas we Americans may have concerning Wilson's desire to "make the world safe for Democracy", no power can expunge Woodrow Wilson from the memory of the Czech people. Names may be erased; the ideals they represent are indelible.

Some day, Hitler will know that.

CHANCE

Chance is that strange mysterious thing
Which carries fate beneath her wing
And turns the foot of man to tread
Where reason never would have led.

Man thinks he knows his destiny;
Fancies that fixed his goal must be;
Imagines he can read the years
Then chance to change his life appears.

A grain of dust his eye offends;
A handkerchief a stranger lends;
A word is spoken and henceforth
Man journeys south instead of north.

The day begins as days before,
Sunrise and sunset as of yore,
But now man starts one minute late
And all is changed by chance or fate.

Nothing is fixed! In manner strange
Man constantly encounters change
And never can he fully see
Just what the hour to come may be.

PERFECT PUNISHMENT

The school superintendent was making the rounds of his district and in general found the discipline was deplorable. Finally he came to a small outlying school and was struck immediately with the order being maintained. Each kid seemed absorbed in his work, with no time for whispering, hair pulling, or shooting paper wads.

The superintendent was astounded particularly, as the teacher didn't look like the strong, disciplinary type of instructor.

"Brown" he said calling the teacher aside. "How is it you maintain such good order. Do you whip them much?"

"Not at all."

"Keep them after school?"

"No."

"Make them do extra work?"

"No."

"Then for heaven's sake, tell me how you manage them so well?"

"That's simple, sir," said Brown. 'When they don't act just right, I eat up their lunches and I don't ever have any more trouble."

What's What At A Glance

Sir Ronald Lindsay In Bad With Press
Earns Aloofness For Visit Of Royalty
White House Also Unpopular In Affair

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, May 25. — Sir Ronald Lindsay, Britain's ambassador in the United States, soon to be succeeded by Lord Lothian, will leave this country under something of a cloud. He's "in bad" with the rank and file of the capital's newspaperdom. In connection with the American visit of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, Sir Ronald and Lady Lindsay took, in advance, decidedly too upstage an attitude toward Washington correspondents and especially toward the newspaper women who write most of the diplomatic and other "sassiety stuff" published in or disseminated from the District of Columbia. The scribes retaliated in a fashion to make the Lindsays ache. They didn't exactly say anything particularly mean about the king and queen, but they cold-watered the whole affair. They refused to express themselves interestingly. They simply have been coldly matter-of-fact—clammy.

In short, their majesties have had a "punk press"—to use a technical journalistic term. There has been ro organized conspiracy. Royalty simply has been, in spirit, boycotted by the newspaper gang—informally, only by common, unofficial consent, but effectively. Oh, plenty of stories have been and will be printed about the visit, but pep is lacking. The emphasis is on the nuisance that these blow-outs are to Washington. The pageantry is played up as comparable to Hitleristic Berlin's and Mussolini-istic Rome's.

Too late the Lindsays realized the mistake they had made by their uppishness and began holding press conferences to placate reportorialism's injured feelings. Reportorialism already was sore clear through. It's aware that finally it scared the Lindsay couple, but that didn't restore good will.

Once On A Time

Back in the days when Sir Esme Howard was British ambassador in Washington, newspaperdom enjoyed a call by some mogul from London.

The then Prince of Wales (now ex-king of England) dropped in on us a couple of times. He chased from the Union Station down to the White House in an ordinary automobile, with nothing but a pair of cops tootling ahead of him on autocycles. He didn't obstruct traffic but he drew crowds. Prime Minister Ramsey McDonald was a guest. He held a press conference as casually as any American cabinet member does. No newspaperman had to have a passport to get in. Troops didn't block all the streets around the British embassy. His press conference over, Ramsay went out to the upper Rapidan and sat on a log to chat with President Hoover. He didn't retire to a "court," like Hyde Park, to eat hot dogs, in seclusion, with our chief executive.

Railroad transportation wasn't tied up.

Suppose, on the day that the king and queen are here, you want to take a train, for the 30-minute run from Washington to Baltimore? You'll have to have credentials to get in.

Washington's Virginia suburb, right across the Potomac from Washington, has many bus commuters who need to cross Pennsylvania avenue to get into town on royalty's day. They're negotiating for a blimp to negotiate the journey—three minutes by auto—probably 10 to 12 hours otherwise on that date, except by air.

White House influence

All this frets Washington's and its neighborhood's populace.

It blames the White House for gumming up the works.

But what the heck does the White House care? Its cars get through.

The White House, I'll say, is unpopular with its local pageantry.

All the same, local newspaperdom does have quite a widespread influence.

The country generally doesn't care a hoot for its traffic problems, but it IS concerned, as to its problems with kings and queens.

NEW YORK — Retiring British Ambassador Sir Ronald Lindsay extolls Secretary of State Hull's trade pacts:

"It is he who has put his finger on the point of difficulty in the world today and who has with limpid sincerity and admirable pertinacity urged that if nations will learn to trade more with each other they will also learn to hate one another less and will themselves become more prosperous and happy."

GARDEN CITY, L. I.—Protestant Episcopal Bishop Ernest M. Stires urges reconstruction of the Kellogg pact:

"In the midst of national and international duplicity and treachery, can we not compel our country to stand for truth and honor, for justice and steadfastness in all its relationships."

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

Candidatorial Progres

WASHINGTON, May 24.

THE fact that the first primary for the selection of delegates to the national conventions is hardly nine months off naturally intensifies interest in the men regarded as Presidential possibilities. As for the politicians, they watch with the deep concentration of the heavy bettor in the grandstand as his horse breaks the barrier.

---

PARTICULARLY is this true among the Republicans where hopes is high and the recognized aspirants for the nomination—Dewey, Taft and Vandenberg—are clearly in a race. This being the case, it seems worth while to note progress among them in the last few weeks. Take first the case of Senator Taft. Early in April he disappointed a good many by making a speech at the Gridiron Club which was not adequate to the occasion. It seemed to his friends an opportunity muffed and there was a certain sagging of his stock. However, last week he concluded his series of weekly radio debates with the eloquent New Dealer; Representative-at-Large Smith of Illinois. So clearly did he get the better of Dr. Smith in this debate that his lost ground was more than recovered. Both the letter response and the independent Gallup poll gave Mr. Taft the advantage. He emerged from the series, which began last January, after an able presentation of his views on every national issue, having made a favorable impression upon a country-wide audience.

UNQUESTIONABLY, Senator Taft has gained within the past few weeks, but so, too, has Senator Vandenberg—and in a more dramatic manner. It was Senator Vandenberg who made the fight against the Florida Ship Canal proposition, which was supported by the President and urged by one of the most powerful and persistent lobbies seen here in a long time. But for Mr. Vandenberg's fight this utterly unjustifiable boondoggle, the ultimate cost of which would have been close to $300,000,000, assuredly would have gone through. The fight was a feather in the Vandenberg cap. It was skillful, effective and courageous. Coupled with his still pending effort to force amendment of the Social Security Act so as to correct its more glaring faults, the Ship Canal victory has greatly increased the availability of the Michigan Senator.

SO far as Mr. Dewey is concerned there is a general feeling that he has strengthened himself by his break with Mr. Kenneth Simpson, the New York National Committeeman. The break was more or less forced by the intolerably possessive attitude of Mr. Simpson, whose press admirers kept insisting that he not only had made Mr. Dewey but that Mr. Dewey remained completely under the Simpson wing. These contentions are equally nonsensical and they left no way to meet them except the one Mr. Dewey has taken. The real gain, however, is in the dissociation of himself from the sort of spurious "liberalism" represented by Mr. Simpson and the ending of any chance that he can be delivered as part of a bargain with the American Labor party or any other radical organization full of Communistic key men. It was Mr. Simpson's bargain with the American Labor party in 1935 that seemed to many a willingness to abandon principle for the sake of votes, which in the long run will destroy any party.

SINCE that campaign Mr. Simpson's stock in trade has consisted in vociferously asserting his "liberalism." Upon all occasions he proclaims himself a "liberal" and insists that the party must nominate "liberal" candidates on a "liberal" platform. His idea of "liberalism" seems to be to support most of the New Deal fallacies and hook up with the radical labor leaders in New York city. To accentuate his "liberalism" he periodically slurs at Mr. Hoover and tries to make of that gentleman a target. When he failed to be elected to the executive committee of the National Committee a few months ago he promptly charged Mr. Hoover with this heinous crime, although if he did not know why he was not chosen nearly every other politician did.

ACTUALLY, of course, Mr. Hoover had nothing to do with the defeat of Mr. Simpson, and personally does not concern himself about Mr. Simpson. Since the executive committee incident, however, Mr. Hoover's friends in New York naturally have resented what they consider malicious misrepresentation of the facts about him and are delighted to see Mr. Dewey break away. Mr. Simpson's mouth-pieces bellow that Mr. Dewey has been taken over by the "Hoover, Hoover, Hoover." But it "reactionary interests" and shout is hollow stuff and fools no one much. The simple fact is that Mr. Dewey is rid of an alliance that would have handicapped him.

---

The goldfish-swallowing mania wasn't surprising. With everybody vocally longing for some sea food mamma, further idiocy was bound to break out somewhere.

---

War has compensations. After so many hours out in a cold rain, soaked and hungry, you don't give a darn if somebody does shoot at you.

Mullentowners Have Enjoyable Party Wednesday

Entertainment Features May Party In Orr's Hall Last Evening

Although he remained under an oxygen tent where he was placed when stricken with pneumonia last week, Dr. Mayo was said after the transfusion to be winning "a very close fight" for life. The transfusion was ordered suddenly yesterday when the ailing physician began to lose strength rapidly.

Maybe we all have one-tract minds. Hating and dreading Facism makes us forget that even more cruel and deadly and treacherous thing in Russia.

The Human Side Of The News

his beard grow so long that it fanned over his sturdy chest.

In 1922, over in England, there was a national outbreak of the amusing game of "Beaver". Considering the fact that their monarch, George V, wore a beard—though a very neat one—this prankish game came to something like lese majeste. So rampant did the sport become that the Lord Chamberlain, who is the master of all ceremonial, seriously pondered the king's whiskers as a possible liability of the realm. "King May Lose Whiskers" was an American headline of that day. But the gust of foolishness soon passed with the sailor king's beard still snugly moored to his chin.

The brief furore stimulated a study of beards and their history. Among the students was David Garnett, the English novelist. He reached a conclusion rather rough on bearded gentlemen:

"The beard is the organ of dignity, pomposity and fraud. With rare exceptions, beards are bad for the character, and our bearded friends are weak-chinned imposters who take themselves too seriously."

But that was neither final nor conclusive. From behind the defending ramparts of whiskers came reminders that the bewhiskered Elizabethan age was an era of grandeur and glory and of a great creative upsurge in poetry and the other arts, while the beardless age of Queen Anne was lethargic and dull.

The poets did not fail, you may be sure, to chant the genius of bearded Chaucer, Shakespeare, Bacon, Spenser, Dickens, Carlyle, Ruskin, Browning, Tennyson, Swinburne, Meredith, Morris and Shaw. The great ages of poetry have always been bearded, they insisted. And, of course, they have a great precedent in the bearded, blind Homer.

Early in the 19th century, beards came back, both in England and the United States. Civil War generals advanced behind formidable brushworks. Grant, Garfield, Arthur and Harrison were bearded, but since President Cleveland's mustache', we have had no facial fringe of any kind in the White House.

The children cried to Elisha "Go up, thou baldhead!" and much of the historic excitement over beards is doubtless similarly foolish and unkind. The chances are that Dr. Hooton, the Harvard anthropologist who studies such matters, would conclude that it is what is inside and not outside the skull that counts. Certainly the wing-tip of genius touches the bearded and the beardless alike. George Ade backtrailed some beard lore, and finished thus:

"A harelip is a misfortune; cross eyes are an affliction, but side-whiskers are man's own fault."

If you want a first-class example of beard and brains, cast your gaze in the direction of the national capital, and let it rest upon just about the finest intellectual in America, the chief justice of the supreme court of America, Charles Evans Hughes.

The contract for the linoleum for the remodelled Boyles house adjoining the court house has been let to J. R. Frew Company at their bid of $1596. A contract for venetian blinds has been held up until the county commissioners can see for themselves the operations of the various blinds in the bids.

Fund For Triplets Continues To Grow

Little by little the fund for the Johnson triplets is growing, but it should be growing faster. To date about $33 has been turned in to the News to aid the family of the little tots who live in South New Castle Boro.

The triplets will be christened Sunday and it is hoped sufficient money will be in by Saturday to outfit the youngsters properly and also to provide them with other necessities.

There are people who would cheerfully pay a million dollars to have triplets. Nature sometimes deposits them in homes where there is more love than money and that is the situation in this case. The Johnsons are delighted with the triplets but economic circumstances are such that they cannot give them the proper advantages and also care for the rest of the family.

No contribution is too small or too large to aid this fund. Whether it is a dime or ten dollars it will be cheerfully received and every penny received will be turned over to the Johnson family.

Now is a chance for you to buy a large piece of satisfaction by contributing to the fund. A little from a lot will put the fund where it should be. All contributions should be left at the News office on North Mercer street.

"Bill" Martin And Wife Enroute To Montana For Show

Will Stage Huge Outdoor Show On 400 Foot Stage For State; Conclude Visit Here

William Martin and wife, have concluded an extended visit at the home of his parents, Attorney and Mrs. Harvey E. Martin, Park avenue, and are now enroute to Pierre, South Dakota. They plan to visit the Black Hills, and then continue on their way to Helena, Montana, where Mr. Martin will do a show for the state.

"Bill" as he is known, has gained wide recognition for his ability in putting on shows, and for a period of several years, had full charge of the Kiwanis productions, in New Castle.

The Montana outdoor show will involve a cast of 3,000 persons, including a chorus of 1200 voices. The performance will be portrayed on a 400 foot stage, with a steam curtain, the scenes being faded out with a vast window of steam and then disappearing, as the scenes are resumed.

The Martins will go to Washington after the Montana show.

Enroute to the different places, Mr. and Mrs. Martin plan on visiting the Yellowstone National Park, the fair at San Francisco, and many other points of interest.

Night Pageant At Slippery Rock

SLIPPERY ROCK, May 25.—Final rehearsals are being held this week for the spectacular night pageant to be held at Slippery Rock State Teachers College on Friday evening, May 26 at 8 o'clock E.S.T. Scores of alumni, townspeople, descendants of early founders are in the cast. Eight episodes will depict the growth of the college since its founding in 1889.

Grove City Pupils Going To Compete In New York City

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, May 25.—National music honors in four events will be the goal of local high school students who will go to New York City this week end to compete in the national finals. The local students won Pennsylvania titles in oboe, French horn, snare drum, and woodwind quintet.

The students are Betty Bishop, Peggy Fair, Dick Hall, John Barber, John Place, Don Lester and Kenneth Sefton. They will be accompanied by Ben Marshall of the music faculty and will visit the World's Fair.

East New Castle Grange In Session

Several visitors from Westfield Grange were present at the East New Castle Grange meeting held Tuesday evening. "The Garden" was the theme of the meeting, and the following program was presented: Song, "In the Garden"; roll call, "My Favorite Garden Vegetable"; reading, "Salad Superb," Marion Reno; open discussion on growing vegetables; stunt, "Guessing Vegetables," won by Norman McHattie; song, 'Bud and Bloom."

No man of ordinary sense plans expenditures to fit desire instead of income, until he gets into the legislature.

AROUND CITY HALL

City officials are taking a keen interest these days in finding hazardous trees and as soon as reports are received, Owen Fox, the city forester is sent to make a study of the tree. When a tree occupies a spot on city property and it becomes dangerous they intend to have it removed because it may fall and cause injuries which may result in a damage suit against the city.

Traffic Commissioner Thomas Jones has pointed out to superiors that something might be done to make conditions less hazardous at Croton avenue and Walnut street. A wall prevents a view from either Walnut street into Croton avenue (hill section) or from Croton avenue into Walnut street. It might be possible to remove some of the wall. An autoist who would turn left from Walnut street into Croton avenue, would be chancing a wreck. Due to detours traffic on Croton avenue has increased.

Applications for the construction of sidewalks now are being received in city hall. People who owe delinquent taxes and who want to work it off their minds, are signing in city hall for any tax-labor jobs the city can give. Whenever the city puts through jobs of this nature the city must have cash to give the men one-half the wage in cash and credit the other half on taxes.

I HATE TO DANCE WITH A DAMP SEAL

• The girl friend told me that—and I can sympathize with her. Matter of fact, it's no fun for me to feel like a damp seal—with my top-shirt all clammy and wet from perspiration. That's why I wear a HANES Undershirt!

Gentlemen, you need a blotter when it's hotter. And that's what a HANES Undershirt is! Even though it rests as light as a feather on your chest, it soaks up perspiration with its soft, absorbent knit. Evaporation is even and rapid. You actually feel cooler all over ... and your top-shirt keeps a lot neater!

See your HANES Dealer today. He'll show you some HANES Undershirts—and notice how long they are. There's plenty of length to tuck deep inside your shorts and save uncomfortable wadding at the waist. May We Present...a Friend of Yours?

Every telephone customer has a friend in the telephone Business Office.

We call her a Service Representative, because her job is to give you service and she is your personal representative in the company.

While she may not look exactly like this young woman, you may be sure she is well-trained, pleasant, courteous and always eager to help you with any telephone problem.

CAREFULLY SELECTED ...
She's 26 years old, 5 feet 5 inches tall, weighs 127 pounds, has brown hair, blue eyes. These are averages. But your Service Representative is not just an average girl. For among the necessary requirements for this exacting job are intelligence, neat appearance, a pleasing personality and a quick understanding of complex problems.

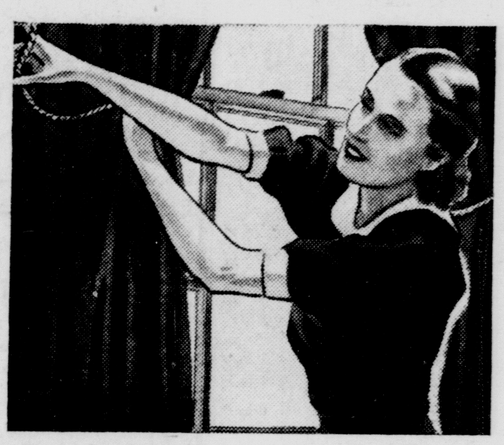

THOROUGHLY TRAINED ...
She has spent from 8 to 9 weeks in company training classes before starting her work in a Business Office. From time to time she receives additional suggestions and training from her supervisor or "coach". She has had an average of 7 years' experience, but she says: "I'm still learning things about this business."

PLEASANT AND CAPABLE ...
Whether you call to place an order, to secure information or discuss a bill, you'll find her courteous, helpful and always eager to serve. Asked what she likes best about her job, she replies: "I like meeting and talking with the public and the opportunity to be of service to so many people. Their problems vary so, there's never a dull moment on my job."

PASTIMES AND PLEASURES ...
She likes tennis, but her favorite sport is swimming. Her favorite author is Lloyd C. Douglas. She prefers the informative type of magazine and she tunes her radio most often to "Information Please" and Charlie McCarthy. On the screen, she likes Spencer Tracy, Tyrone Power and Ronald Colman.

SHE HELPS OUT AT HOME ...
She lives with her parents and contributes on the average $9.00 a week to the support of the home. She spends about $4.50 a week on her clothes, and says, "I like to look presentable to meet the public." Out of the balance of her salary she puts $3.70 a week into insurance and savings.

LET HER HELP YOU ... Your Service Representative's job is to help you get the kind of telephone service you need and want. She's trained to serve you. She wants to help you. So please feel free to consult her whenever you feel that her information or advice may result in better, more complete telephone service for you. She'll welcome your call—in person or by telephone—at the Bell Business Office.

Impressive Rites For R. C. Wiggins

Services At State Capital And New Castle For Prominent Pennsylvanian

Funeral services were conducted this week, Monday at Harrisburg, and Tuesday at New Castle, for the late Robert Clark Wiggins of Harrisburg, son-in-law of Attorney and Mrs. F. A. Hover of Croton avenue, this city.

At the capital, where Mr. Wiggins was Pennsylvania secretary of the American Guernsy association, the services were conducted in the Richard A. Reese funeral home, with Dr. C. Waldo Cherry, pastor of the Pine Street Presbyterian church, in charge, assisted by Rev. Norman Wagner, pastor of the Riverside Methodist church. An Eastern Star service followed, with officers and members of Beverly Maqueda Chapter No. 276, O. E. S., of the state of New Jersey, in charge.

Pallbearers were members of Mrs. John Y. Boyd's Bible class of the Pine Street church, the Rotary club of Harrisburg, and representatives of the local and state Y. M. C. A.: Gus Kulman, Benton Hildabrand, Edward Underduffler, Paul Moser, Dr. H. W. Hazen, Harry Smeltzer, C. E. Shirk, Sam Mumma and Edward Sutton.

The funeral party left Harrisburg Monday night at 11:50 and was bade farewell by friends of Mr. Wiggins, representing the Pine street church, Mrs. John Y. Boyd's Bible class of which the deceased was president, the Harrisburg Rotary, business associates, neighbors and friends. The funeral party arrived in New Castle at the Pennsylvania station Tuesday morning and was met by mourning and grieving friends and relatives. The body was taken to Oak Park cemetery where Dr Samuel C. Gamble, pastor of the Second U. P. church of Butler, of which Mr. Wiggins was a former member, conducted services, assisted by Dr. J. J. McIlvaine of the First Presbyterian church, and Rev. William V. McLean of the First Methodist church.

Dr. Gamble spoke of his association with Mr. Wiggins over a great number of years, and paid tribute to the deceased as a fine Christian friend and citizen. Mr. Wiggins had been president at one time of the Irvine Bible class in Dr. Gamble's church.

Masonic services were conducted by Mahoning Lodge No. 243, F. & A. M., of which the father-in-law, Mr. Hover, is a member. This service was granted by courtesy of the Right Worshipful Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania by request of the Right Worshipful Grand Lodge of New Jersey of which the deceased was a member of Beverly, N. HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Youth Held In Beaver County Jail For Triple Murder

Confesses Crime Police Report

Fancied Mistreatment By Parents Given As Cause Of Terrible Occurrence

SHOTGUN AND AX USED IN SLAYINGS

(International News Service)

BEAVER, Pa., May 25.—Sorrowing relatives and friends made funeral arrangements today for three members of the Cook family of South Beaver township, who were slain with a shotgun and an ax early yesterday by a 17-year-old son who fancied he was being mistreated.

Meanwhile, the triple-killer, Paul J. Cook, a husky former Beaver Falls high school student, languished in the Beaver Falls jail, where late yesterday he calmly told county and state police the details of the murders.

Victims of the murder were Forrest Cook, 46-year-old township tax collector; his 42-year-old wife, Cora, and their 24-year-old daughter Eleanor, a red-haired beauty.

Confesses Crime

Young Paul was arrested in Beaver Falls, where he was found parking in his father's machine. He was taken to the scene of the slaying and there, gazing at the mutilated bodies of his family, blurted out: "I did it." His confession, state police said, was given in a more nonchalant manner.

"I heard the clock strike three," he was quoted as saying. "I couldn't go back to sleep and lay there thinking about how my parents hadn't been treating me right.

"So I went downstairs and I got the ax and the shotgun. I hit dad with the ax and he didn't move after that. Mother didn't wake up and I put the shotgun to her head and shot her. Then I went over to sis' bed and shot her, too. Then I hit them all a few times with the ax."

The Cooks live in a lonely farmhouse just a few miles from the Ohio state line.

Mt. Jackson Notes

BANQUET AT LEGION HOME

One of the lovely mother tributes of Tuesday evening was a delightful banquet held in the Legion Home sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary.

Some sixty-five members and guests assembled for the affair which began with the serving of a delicious tureen dinner at 6:30 o'clock at long tables attractively decorated with lilacs and tulips.

The program presented by the Juniors opened with a toast to the mothers by Miss Louise Butler, and Mrs. Sarah McCord responded to the daughters. Appropriate readings by Delores Martin and Ferne Scott were followed by a vocal duet, "We Greet You Mother", Helen and Eileen Gwin; vocal solo, "Mother O' Mine", Eleanor Pitts; "It Pays", Verna Mae Mack, LaDonna Carr and Eileen Gwin; musical reading, "Demonstrating Mother's Day", group of girls.

Mrs. John Templeton, of New Castle, was the guest speaker of the evening, and her appropriate and inspiring talk was much enjoyed.

Mothers of the post members were the honored guests of the evening and in behalf of the auxiliary, Mrs. Helen Kenny presented Mrs. Grist, a gold star mother, with a beautiful potted plant. Eighteen other mothers each received a pot of petunias.

The success of the above affair was due to the committees: Reception, Helen Kinney and Elsie Davis; decorations, Anna Ball, Laura Seltger and Sarah Belle Gibson; coffee, Maude Carr and Hazel Mack.

PLAN FOR CHILDRENS DAY

Plans are being made for the annual Children's Day program to be given during June by children of the United Presbyterian Sunday school. The committee in charge consists of Mary Alice Craig, Dorothy Kennedy and Leora Hanna. Practice will be held at 1 o'clock Saturday, May 27, in the church.

AUXILIARY MEETING

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Earl J. Watt Post, American Legion Unit, No. 638, was held Monday evening in the Legion Home. Delegates appointed to attend the Four County Council meeting today, May 25, at Chicora, were Hazel Mack and Nettie Weitz. Plans were also made for holding a dance on Friday evening, June 9, in the Legion Home. The following committee was instructed to buy flowers for deceased members to be placed on graves, Decoration Day.

Following the meeting, lunch was served and a social time enjoyed.

The next meeting will be held in June in the Legion Home. The social committee consists of Maude Carr, Rose Scargilina, and Hazel Butler.

Of 4,602 household accidents reported in a survey, 870 occurred in the yard; 821 in the kitchen; 593 on outside stairs; 458 on inside stairs; 393 in living room; 333 on porch; 329 in bedroom; 262 in basement, and 126 in bathroom.

Male Chorus To Sing On Sunday

Sunday evening, at 7:45, at the Central Presbyterian church, the New Castle Male Chorus, will give a concert, under the direction of Miss Gwladys Thomas, and Miss Ann Thomas, accompanist.

The program will consist of choruses, quartetts, solos, and instrumental music.

There will be a special rehearsal of the chorus, at Y. W. C. A. hall, 7:30, Saturday evening.

An aeronautical engineer has designed a plane which will have a top speed of 1,000 miles an hour and a normal speed of 600 to 700 miles an hour. According to other engineers, his plane will have to land at a speed of approximately 150 miles an hour, regarded as an impossibility.

Provincial Players Plan Anniversary

Marking the first year of their occupancy of the playhouse at the corner of East Washington and Beckford streets, the Provincial Players will hold a "kid party" on Friday night, May 26th, it was announced today.

The players and their friends will dress in kid costumes and the program will be in keeping with the idea.

EAST SIDE TOWNSEND CLUB

This evening the East Side Townsend Club will meet at 8 o'clock, at their hall, 812 Morton street. A report of the program made in Congress will be made.

Absence of chains doesn't make us free. If scheming men can control our minds, they can soon persuade us to fasten the chains on ourselves.

With the start they have, it will be almost impossible to eradicate starlings and crows unless some society starts a movement to save them.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright 1938, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

GIVING BABY CODLIVER OIL NO PROBLEM, SAYS DAFOE

Much of the codliver oil on the market is the unconcentrated type. There are other preparations in which the vitamin is concentrated partially, and still others in which the vitamin is fully concentrated.

But there are other products which lie between. Some are so concentrated that they require only a teaspoonful a day, while others are so little concentrated that they aren't much different from plain codliver oil. That is why I counsel every mother to make sure that she reads the number of units the product contains so she will know how much to give in order that the baby will get 2,000 units every day. With that much in his system, he is completely protected from rickets. Even so, a doctor should be consulted.

I have known cases where giving the baby codliver oil has been quite a problem. Often the mother is at fault. A mother often writes to tell me that baby doesn't like the taste of codliver oil and won't eat it. As a matter of fact, babies don't have any sense of taste until they are about six months old. So the mother needn't feel that baby dislikes the taste of the oil just because he spits it out. If he refuses it, then it is altogether likely that his only reason for doing so is that it is a new form of food and he doesn't quite know what to make of it. If you will just be patient and continue to give it to him, after a few refusals he will decide that it may be all right after all, and down it will go. Remember, codliver oil doesn't taste any different to him than his milk does.

Occasionally, however, we do run across a child who either vomits the oil when he swallows it or develops diarrhea. When this happens, it means that the system can't assimilate the oil in this form. These children should be changed to the concentrated oil that requires only ten drops to give the necessary protection. This was the product we used with the Quintuplets, and I can't begin to tell you what wonders it performed.

We gave them the concentrated oil because they were so frail and weak at the time that we couldn't take a chance of upsetting their stomachs and giving them another setback. But, of course, they were premature babies, living in incubators.

Most babies will take to the regular codliver oil, and will actually get fond of it. We switched to codliver oil just as soon as we could. We give it to the Quints every day of their lives, winter and summer, and we don't have to coax them to take it either. They are fond of it.

'Junker Derby' Set For Memorial Day

Public To Watch Old Cars Race Over Union Township Tract

A "junker derby" for autos nine years old or older will be staged on the old Troop F grounds in Union township on Memorial Day, Tuesday, May 30. The Castle Racing association will sponsor it.

Popular entertainment in the midwest, the jalopy runs are just being introduced to the east. The holiday race is the first ever scheduled here.

The cars, at least nine years old, must be locally owned and operated. During the race they must move through plowed ground, in and out of mud holes and around hair-pin turns. The West Washington extension race route is being prepared.

A group of entrants have signed for the Memorial Day event, and when the spirit of competition rises it is thought there will be many more.

Parking space will be provided all spectators. Some will win handsome prizes.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Vacationists wise protect their eyes.

There is a heavy strain on the eyes from sunlight.

Sunlight is reflected from pavement and beach.

The water acts as a mirror to the sun's rays.

Unprotected eyes become red and tired.

Headaches, even stomach upset, may result.

Black or smoked glasses are advocated by eye doctors.

Attachable lenses can be placed over regular glasses.

Eskimos have used goggles for centuries.

Shells or bits of wood with slits in them have served.

They admit but a fraction of lights reflected from snow.

Protect your eyes with black or smoked glasses.

ONE MAN KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK

Crack Express Train Is Struck By Boom On Work Train

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

HARTFORD, Conn., May 25.—One man was killed and at least 12 others were known to have suffered injuries today when the Washingtonian, crack express train bound from Montreal to Washington, was sideswiped by a boom on a work train at Newington Junction.

Dead was David Butters, of East Providence, R. I., employed as a flagman by the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, but traveling as a passenger. Butters was dead upon arrival at St. Francis hospital.

A half dozen ambulances rushed the injured to Hartford and St. Francis hospitals.

According to railroad officials, the boom of the work train, engaged in repair work on the track, swung around as the Washingtonian approached and struck the engine, tore the side off one coach, smashed windows of two sleeping cars, and caused considerable damage to other cars.

Hillsville Twins Have Fine Record

Complete Term In Eighth Grade Without Missing Day Of School During Lifetime

Hillsville school authorities are proud of the record which has been compiled by Richard and Robert Navarra, aged 13, twins, who have just completed their terms in the eighth grade and have passed the high school entrance examination. Neither has missed a single day of school since they started in eight years ago, a record which is probably unequalled in the entire state.

In addition to having this splendid record, the boys stand at the head of the class in their grades, being exceptionally fine students.

The Fighter and the Queen

One of the reasons why the throng of war veterans at dedication of Canada's war memorial in Ottawa went wild with enthusiasm for King George and Queen Elizabeth was her majesty's charming smile, in evidence here as she shakes the hand of a veteran. Waving away guards and attendants, the royal visitors strolled into the crowd and personally made friends with their subjects. (Central Press)

Countess Is Fair Fan

Quite a World's Fair fan is Countess Barbara Hutton Haugwitz-Reventlow, the five-and-ten-cent store heiress. After attending New York's big show with her son, Lance, one day, she returned the next afternoon and dropped in on a meeting of poets in the Federal Building. Seated with her there is Hokan Steffanson. (Central Press)

Girl Found After 3-Day Hunt

Isla Aylesworth, 13-year-old New York schoolgirl, who disappeared from outside the World's Fair grounds and for three days was the object of an eight-state search, is shown (center) with her mother and sister, Jean, during visit to a Pittsburgh radio station recently. She reappeared at a gas station near the Fair and told of being held captive in nearby swamps.

Johnstown Man Suicide Victim

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 25.—A man identified as Clarence Widderchein, 50, of Johnstown, Pa., committed suicide today in a room in a downtown hotel, to the accompaniment of swing music blaring from his radio, police reported.

W. H. Caldwell, a hotel watchman, found the body after he had stopped at Widderchein's door to ask him to lower the volume of music and being unable to get any answer, forced his way into the room. He told police he found the lifeless body in the bathroom.

Four Games In City Baseball League Tonight

K. Pulaski-West Pittsburg Game Cancelled, Tigers-Ryantown To Clash

SLOVAKS-ELDERS TANGLE TONIGHT

There will be but four games in the City Baseball league tonight, owing to the fact that the West Pittsburg-K. Pulaski game at West Pittsburg, has been cancelled. The games will start not later than 5:45 o'clock.

Up on the newly created Lockley Field, the Slovak Club with Balla or Janoski pitching will tangle with the Elder A. C. managed by Paul "Bus" Layton. The Elders will use either McIntyre or Lamm on the hill, it was indicated.

Tigers Vs. Ryantown

The Union Civics with Shaw or Smith ready to fling will journey up to Colonial Field to oppose Jimmy Steiner's St. Josephs Ecclesian club and will find Picato ready to take up the pitching burden for the Saints.

At the Ryantown field, it will be those natural West Side rivals—Ryantown and the West Side Tigers. Manager Samuels will give the pitching nod to young Morris and Manager McCormick will chose Updegraf as his hurler.

The Lawrence Indies with Macocha ready to fling will go down to the E. and A field to oppose Mike Orlando and his Columbus Club team. The Seventh Ward Columbus team will probably pitch Fogione.

The league is warming up nicely and a tough old race for the first-half flag is in prospect.

CROTON BUCS WIN GAME

The Croton Bucs defeated the Croton Juniors last night at Hickory Heights field 13 to 5 with Rubeis doing the pitching for the winners and Latess for the Juniors. The Croton Bucs are out to capture the junior softball championship this year.

Three New Castle Boys Play Golf At Slippery Rock

Three New Castle boys now attending Slippery Rock State Teachers College, have done much to boost golf as a sport at that institution. The boys, Ted Bukowski, James Dart, and Filbert Nocera, have done consistent work on the Rocket varsity golf team in its first year as a varsity sport, and have aided greatly in establishing the team's record of nine wins and only five losses.

Mr. Bukowski, who is an ex-caddie of the Castle Hills Golf Course, has been alternately playing as first and second man, while James Dart has played in the third position, and Filbert Nocera, also a former caddie, fifth. Bukowski has played consistent golf throughout the varsity season, averaging an 82 for the matches in which he has competed and rating a fifth position tie in the recent tournament staged by Allegheny College at the Meadville Country Club. This together with the work of Dart and Ken Bunney of Ellwood City, both of whom placed within the first fifteen in the tournament, has enabled Slippery Rock to come off with third honors at the tourney.

The varsity season now being ended, the boys are looking forward to more extensive play next year. All of those who played on this year's team will be on hand to perform next year.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

There comes to this columnist to-day a missive from our friend, W. L. Ringer, dictator of New Castle Lodge No. 51, Loyal Order of Moose. It is one he received from Ben Freedman, New York, relative to Mickey Walker, the ex-Toy Bulldog who some time ago came here to referee but was prevented from appearing because hot weather checked the attendance of a fistic promotion. Ringer as dictator of the Moose, which will stage a convention for Western Pennsylvania Moose here, June 22 and 24, apprises us that the ex-Toy buildog now has a girls show, featuring feminine athletic champions. The aggregation consists of 12 girls, each of whom is famed for ability with her "dukes." Here are some of the cognomens Mickey has placed before their last nake. Battleshop, Speedy, K. O., Fighting, Sunny, Italian Flash, Snappy, Wild, Mad Russian and Two Ton Julia. We've seen girl wrestlers and heard of a girl (yes, several times on a telephone who wanted to be booked for a fight in the bowl) who said she was quite adept with her fists. The letter was sent Ringer, the exfighter, who was one of the greatest men in the world, pound for pound, and inch for inch, in the hope they might appear here during the convention. No doubt the convention will be a big thing for this city and their literature carries, this caption: "Make New Castle Your Castle." This slogan was that of the late David Jameson. A. G. Halbert is general chairman and E. O. Raney, general secretary of the coming convention.

Tom McMahon refereed at Roch-ester several night ago and his next trip into the ring may be in Monaca, next week. . . . Met Johnny Ray, manager of Billy Conn recently. . . . He looks like a million. Johnny fought Patsy Brannigan in a fight the writer promoted here more than a score years ago. . . . Told him that if he wanted a good training partner for Conn he might be able to get him by arranging the deal with Jimmie Dime who has a contract with Rubin. . . . Elmo the Mighty, once the scream of the Jolly Bowl, is carrying one of his hands in a cast. It is fractured. . . . Bobby Dean, ex-marine, believes he can beat Billy Soose who was given a decision over him on the Pacific coast. Bobby says Soose was the movie heroes pick and he got the decision which Dean claims he doesn't believe Soose deserved. We don't know. The fight was on the Coast.

Baseball scorers should send only completed box scores accompanied by a write-up to The News. Some of the returns are so illegible we must toss them away because they cannot be printed. . . . Every name should be written plainly and player position assigned. All totals should jibe. Scorers who follow these instructions will find it beneficial to their team. It might not be a bad idea for managers to instruct some of the scorers how to properly compile a box scoe. . . . Indications are Fritzie Zivic and Charlie Burley will fight in Pittsburgh and the winner will meet Henry Armstrong in Forbes field, later. . . . The Dave Clark-Al Gainer, light-heavyweight fight, docketed for Pittsburgh Monday night, should be exceptionlly good. Clark was the chap who was to have fought John Henry Lewis for the title and which bout was called off because of the alleged condition of Lewis' eyes. Gainer holds decisions over Tony Galento and Jimmy Braddock.

George Barrett's habit of carrying an air rifle when he goes fishing is a good stunt. He kills snakes who kill fish. Until he told us, we did not know snakes liked crabs. . . . Frankie Genaro and a chap named Gunther, who beat Genaro in Warren, O., recently will be two of the fighters on the June 12 card which will be sponsored by the Society of the 28th Division, A. E. F., Kahle Ashton, Post No. 8, it was stated today by the Jefferson A. C. ringleaders. . . . G. F. Keck, the state motor policeman, is a keen fight fan. He has acted as and made a good judge on several occasions. A colleague, John Hardy, manages Larry Regal, the Butler middleweight.

Henry Armstrong is favored to beat Ernie Roderick, Briton, tonight in a 15-round bout in England. Armstrong will need to exercise care about keeping his punches up and commit no unnecessary roughness. English officials are decidedly strict on enforcing the rules...Dick Chapman, Greenwich, Conn., defeated defending Champion Charley Yates of Atlanta in the third round of the British amateur golf championship in Hoylake, Eng., 5 and 3; Bill Holt of Syracuse won 3 and 2 over D. S. Coates of England. Both went into the fourth round today for the British title....Penn State vanquished Susquehanna 9 to 1 at State College. ...Boots Poffenberger, right handed flinger for the Dodgers, who was fined $400 for not showing up at a game and not keeping baseball hours, intends to quit the sport, he has told officials.

Geneva beat Westminster in ten-nis 9 to 0 and Pitt took the city tennis crown by beating Duquesne 6 to 2...Long John Woodruff of Pitt will run in the IC4-A meet at Randall's Island, N. Y., Friday and Saturday. He will participate in the 440 and 880-yard events...Tony Galento picks Lou Nova to flatten Max Baer and in turn Maxie says Tony has as much chance against Louis as a man strapped in an electric chair.

Leo Ryglinski Will Compete In Cracow, Poland

Local New Castle High Star Miler Invited To International Polish Games

IS GREAT HONOR FOR LOCAL ORDER

New Castle and particularly the Polish Falcon order here, is going to be honored this summer at the International Polish Games at Cracow, Poland, by having young Leo Ryglinski, 17-year-old high school boy, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Ryglinski, of 1704 Morris street, entered in three events in the games.

Announcement of the selecting of young Ryglinski, star miler and half miler of the New Castle high track team, was made today by Marion Kolodjeski, physical director of the Polish Falcon order.

Having placed in the Polish Olympic games at Pittsburgh last summer made the local boy eligible for a position on the five-man team picked from the entire United States. The local boy was the choice of Gustave Pieprzny, National Polish physical director of Pittsburgh in recognition of the fine work that Leo Ryglinski has done, and also in recognition of the splendid achievements of the local Polish Falcon order.

Leave July 2

Another boy from Western Pennsylvania hailing from Ford City, Edward Mazurek, a broad jumper and sprinter will also make the trip. This is the first time in the history of the local Polish Falcon order that anyone from New Castle has been invited to the International Polish Games. The boys will stay at a camp in Poland for a short while and will then be taken on a tour of the country, visiting many interesting places.

Ryglinski is due to leave here July 2, and will probably be two weeks or more in getting to Poland. The games will start the first week in August. Ryglinski will compete in three distance events—the 3-mile or 5,000 meters run, the mile or 1,500 meters run, and the half-mile or 800 meters run.

Bowman Pitches Pirates To Win Over Dodgers 6-3

Dolph Camilli Hits Homer But To No Avail, Yanks Halted By Tiger Rookie

CINCINNATI REDS KEEP ON WINNING

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 25.—Wednesday, May 24, 1939, will always remain a red letter day in the life of Paul Trout, a tall rangy youngster from Terre Haute, who won 22 games for Beaumont in the Texas league last year.

For that was the day on which the rookie righthander (a) won his first major league game; (b) pitched the Tigers out of last place in the American League; (c) trimmed the world champion Yankees with seven hits while fanning six for a 6-1 decision, and (d) stopped the Yankee winning streak which had run through 12 straight games.

Reds Win Another

But while the Yankee streak was going overboard, four other skeins continued to run, two of them with reverse English. The Reds ran their victory skein to nine straight by trimming the Giants, 6-0, and the Cardinals made it six in a row at the expense of the Bees, whom they topped, 7-0.

Paul Derringer had the honor of pitching the Reds' first shut-out of the year and Curt Davis turned in the Cardinals' fifth whitewash job.

Incidentally, Frank McCormick hit his eighth homer for the Reds to keep pace with Hank Greenberg of the Tigers and Dolph Camilli of the Dodgers.

Pirates Trim Dodgers

However, Dolph's latest four-master was of little use to the Dodgers who bowed to Bowman of the Pirates, 6-3, for their sixth consecutive defeat. And the Phils dropped their seventh straight when Larry French of the Cubs set them back, 3-2.

The Yanks lost no ground by their defeat because the Indians trimmed the Red Sox, 6-2. Willis Hudlin gave the Sox only four hits and helped his own cause with a homer.

The Senators laid down a 16-hit barrage to sink the Browns, 16 to 6, and in a night game at Philadelphia, Eddie Smith, the young southpaw Jimmy Dykes picked up from the Athletics three weeks ago for $7,500, turned the tables on Connie Mack by pitching the White Sox to a 4 to 1 triumph.

Errors Help To Win For Wampum

Hot Tops Employ Three Pitchers But Fail To Stem Batsmen

Wampum took advantage of every break yesterday at New Galilee and the New Castle Hot Tops were defeated 11 to 5 in a ragged game which resulted in the Hot Tops being forced out of first place in the Lawrence loop. Incidentally, it was Wampum's first win of the infant season.

B. Inman, Wissner and J. Dicianni pitched for the Hot Tops. A total of nine hits were garnered off the hurlers. However, seven errors were made behind their dliveries and accounted for half the runs. Harper fanned six Hot Tops, gave them only six hits and issued only three walks.

J. Guzzetti, shortstop for Wampum, continued to caress the apple. He got the only extra-base clout, which was a double. J. Dicianni was the hitting star of the day, the right fielder who alternated in the pitching box came through with three singles.

Chapman And Holt Keep On Winning In British Amateur

Dick Chapman Yesterday Defeated Charlie Yates, Defending Champion

(International News Service)

HOYLAKE, Eng., May 25.—Dick Chapman of Greenwich, Conn., and Bill Holt of Syracuse, N. Y., today moved into afternoon fifth round matches in the British amateur golf championship by winning tough, hard-fought forenoon battles with British opponents.

Holt eliminated J. W. Jones, one up, and Chapman defeated A. S. G. Thompson by the same score, but was carried to the 19th hole before he could apply the finisher.

Winning over defending Champion Charlie Yates of Atlanta yesterday, Chapman slumped in his play today, but managed to hold the match square at the 18th and carded a par four on the first extra hole to score his victory.

Armstrong Will Risk His Title Against Roderick

World's Welterweight Title At State Tonight In Bout In London, England

(International News Service)

LONDON, May 25—With the odds in his favor, Henry Armstrong, windmill-punching American Negro, tonight will defend his world's welterweight title against wiry Ernie Roderick, British champion and challenger.

The championship bout, to be held at the indoor Harringay arena, is scheduled for 15 rounds, and will be fought under strict British regulations, which bans the no-foul rule.

Although regarded as the best welterweight to emerge in Britain in many moons, very little "heavy money" betting is resting on the shoulders of the 25-year-old Roderick.

Armstrong, who has slugged his way to two other titles—lightweight and featherweight—is in peak condition, and has ceased to be troubled by the left hand he damaged in the fight he had with Davey Day shortly before he sailed from New York.

Common people in Europe needn't worry. They are 'dangerous radical scum," now, but they'll be "our noble heroes' when the firing starts.

Change Made In Bessemer Game

James Marton, of the Bessemer ball club, announced today that the Philadelphia Black Shadows, a classy colored team, will play at Bessemer on Sunday May 28, and not June 4 as originally announced. The Philadelphia team got mixed up in dates, and notified Mr. Martin today that they would be in Bessemer Sunday at 2:30 o'clock to play the scheduled game.

Radiators Trim Foley Team 6-4

JAPAN SEEKS NEW TRADE PACT WITH CUBAN REPUBLIC

(International News Service)

HAVANA.—Japan is attempting to better its trade relations with China through the promotion of a new commercial agreement to replace the one automatically ended several years ago when Japanese purchases fell below the required minimum, according to reports current in local financial circles.

Although government officials refuse to confirm or deny reports of such overtures, it was learned from usually reallable sources that Japan proposes under a new agreement to buy large quantities of raw sugar and at least $200,000 worth of Cuban tobacco each year.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL.

His hoss went dead an' his mule went lame,
He lost six cows in a poker game;
A hurricane came on a summer's day,
An' carried the house whar he lived away;
Then a airthquake came when that wuz gone,
An' swallowed the lan' that the house stood on!
An' the tax collector, he come roun'
An' charged him up for the hole in the ground!
An' the city marshal—he came in view
An' said he wanted his street tax too!

Did he moan an' sigh? Did he set an' cry
An' cuss the hurricane sweepin' by?
Did he grieve that his ol' friends failed to call
When the airthquake come an' swallered all?
Never a word o' blame he said,
With all them troubles on top his head!
Not him—He climb to the top o' the hill—
Whar, standing' room was left him still,
An' barin' his head, here's what he said:
"I reckon it's time to get up an' git,
But, Lord, I hain't had the measles yit!"

Market Continues Its Recovery Movement In Accelerated Trading Today

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, May 25.—The stock market continued its recovery movement today in accelerated trading.

The list opened strong and moved forward aggressively, gains running to more than 3 points in blue chips. Turnover in the first hour alone was 400,000 shares following yesterday's first 1,000,000-share-day in nearly 6 weeks.

Some high-priced issues scored large gains. Allied Chemical rose over 3 points. Westinghouse nearly 3, and Johns Manville, American Can and Union Pacific more than 2 each.

Steels were strong. U. S. Steel rose a point and had the biggest opening block, 2,500 shares. Bethlehem rose almost as much.

Chrysler was another active issue and rose around a point, while General Motors was higher. Decline in the industry's production due to the Briggs strike was of limited influence.

American Telephone advanced nearly 2 points in the communications. Douglas led the aviations up, gaining more than a point. Elsewhere gains were general, running to a point and more in such groups as coppers, amusements and merchandising shares.

Convention Ends In Keynote Of Fun Last Night; 400 At Friendship Dinner

LADIES HAVE TEA DURING AFTERNOON

Fun and hilarity at the Cathedral last night brought to a delightful close the 14th biennial convention of the Pennsylvania Court, Catholic Daughters of America, which was conducted in New Castle over a four day period.

Four hundred attended the friendship dinner in the Cathedral dining room, and many juniors with their friends joined them for the gay May blossom ball which followed. The affair ended with a grand march on the pavilion led by the state officers.

Impromptu entertainment, mixed with planned nonesense, made the dinner a memorable event. Mrs. Estella Cronin, district deputy from Pittsburgh, was a peppy mistress of ceremonies. The program included a recitation by Marian Hagan, a New Castle junior; "The Old Fashioned School," a skit by delegates from the Philadelphia Diocese; an original song composed by Marie Flynn of Erie diocese; a solo by Kathleen Kinnear of Sharon; an Irish jig by State Regent Frances Maher of Kane; a number by two New Castle juniors, Marian Hagan and Venetia Fazzone; a "grand opera" by state officers; singing by the Harrisburg diocese; recitation by Miss L. O'Neill of the Pittsburgh diocese; "The Umbrella Man," solo by Mrs. Marie Beck of Swissvale; recitations by Margaret Schmidt of Tarentum and Mary Cole of Blairsville; and singing by groups from the Scranton and Altoona dioceses.

Mrs. Frances Colao, grand regent of New Castle, was presented with a gift by the state officers. Card playing and dancing followed.

Earlier in the day the delegates were taken in 30 automobiles, with police escort, to the Shenango Pottery, and then to the New Castle Field Club for tea.

One of the matters taken up at the final business meeting Wednesday was the announcements of awards for exhibits shown at The Castleton. Two first honors were won by New Castle's senior and junior courts.
